Eisenhower Tells Soviet Back Words

Desire For Peace Should Be Applied To Berlin Problem

By ED CREEGH
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower has told Russian leaders their professed desire for peace should be applied to their handling of the Berlin crisis.

He made a pointed reply in an exchange of New Year's greetings with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Klement E. Voroshilov.

Their message, delivered to Eisenhower's farm home near here, expressed hope that 1959 would see an end to "fears of the dangers of a new world war."

The Soviet cablegram Eisenhower was watching a football game on television when the message came in — fired back a cablegram saying he shared the Russians' hopes. He agreed that "genuine efforts" might well be fruitful.

He went on to say: "As of this moment it seems to us critically important to apply the sentiments expressed in your message to the Berlin situation. In this connection, I cannot fail to recall your government's declaration toward the people of Berlin."

He referred to the Russians' announced intention to make Berlin a free city — which would mean Western withdrawal from a key city that, in this country's view, would then inevitably come under Communist rule.

Eisenhower said the Russians' moves to take over Berlin "are not in accord with your expressed aspirations and hopes for peaceful coexistence."

Then Eisenhower reiterated the stand taken by the United States, Britain and France in formal notes delivered only Wednesday to the Kremlin. Those notes, rejecting Russia's demand that they agree within six months to leave Berlin, suggested a general conference on German problems.

Would Welcome Discussion
"The United States government," Eisenhower said, "repeats that, in an atmosphere devoid of any kind of coercion or threat, it would welcome discussion on the question of Berlin in the wider framework of the whole German problem and European security. Positive progress in this specific problem would, I deeply believe, give real substance to the hope that 1959 would witness great advances toward the goal of a just and lasting peace."

Santiago Chosen Temporary Cuban Capital By Castro

BULLETIN

HAVANA (AP)—Advance spearheads of Fidel Castro's revolutionary forces entered Havana today.

HAVANA (AP)—Armed Cuban rebels fired today on the Havana Post building, and temporarily detained three Associated Press men covering the city's post-revolution convulsion. The three were released after questioning.

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA (AP)—With all Cuba virtually in his hands, rebel leader Fidel Castro today triumphantly proclaimed his native Santiago as the nation's provisional capital and named Manuel Urrutia as provisional president.

While Castro's success in his 25-month-old rebellion seemed close to complete, he still must bring his oft-proclaimed choice to Havana and install him in the presidential palace from which dictator Fulgencio Batista fled Thursday. To install Urrutia in the capital, Castro ordered a mass public demonstration in Havana's Central Park at 4 p.m. today.

Ordinary General Strike

The country will remain in a state of paralysis from a general strike ordered by Castro until Urrutia takes over in Havana.

Castro spoke just before dawn to a huge crowd in Santiago, the capital of easternmost Oriente province, after a parade of forces had hailed his leadership and his selection of Urrutia.

Castro said the road to Santiago, occupied Thursday after the deposing garrison surrendered, had been a long and hard one.

He said Santiago "the strongest fortress of the revolution" and "the first triumph" was being crowned by making it the provisional capital for some 12 hours, until he and Urrutia go to Havana.

Castro's supporters controlled all communications and every radio broadcast referred to Urrutia as "provisional president of Cuba."

Former President Carlos Prío Socarrás, an exile in Miami since Batista ousted him by military coup in 1952, arrived meanwhile in Havana. Prío has supported Castro's revolt from exile. He and all other revolutionary organizations recently agreed to accept Urrutia as provisional president.

There was little doubt that this island republic would accept Urrutia, a former judge about 56 years old who long has been Castro's choice to succeed Batista until free elections can be held.

Castro called a general strike across Cuba until Urrutia was installed. The strike seemed 100 per cent effective, thus removing any question of remnants from the Batista regime trying to run the country.

Castro was still in Santiago, the capital of easternmost Oriente province and birthplace of his battle against Batista. Celebrations of his victory continued there all night.

Havana Under Control
Until Urrutia takes over in Havana, Castro's announcements from Santiago provided the only framework of government. Men he designated were giving orders to Cuba's armed forces and police. Castro supporters held Havana under tight control — virtually martial law — today after victory celebrations Thursday led to violence.

Castro, a lawyer who has been a rebel for more than a third of his 32 years, outlined his platform in 1955.

Traffic Toll Hike Follows Bad Weather

Holiday Death Rate Runs Ahead Of New Record In 1956-57

Traffic 130
Fires 26
Miscellaneous 38
Total 214

By The Associated Press

Hazardous weather conditions were blamed today for a sharp rise in the nation's New Year holiday traffic death toll.

The death toll rate was running ahead of the record of 66,000 set in the four-day New Year holiday of 1956-57. It also was a faster clip than the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 390 deaths for the 102-hour period.

Traffic deaths last year, estimated at 37,000 by the council, averaged about 101 a day. But the slaughter on the highways since the start of the New Year holiday count at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday topped the daily traffic toll in 1958. The count continues until midnight Sunday.

Council Makes Plea

"The weather is bad and the toll is bad," the council said. "The toll is proceeding at an alarming rate. We appeal to every driver to realize that he must hold his speed down and be doubly careful."

Snow, sleet and rain in many sections of the country added to the normal heavy holiday travel. Thursday the deaths took a sharp upturn after a comparatively safe start. Treacherous driving conditions were reported in many areas, especially in the Midwest and East. Local blizzard conditions added to the traffic hazards in the high plains and upper Mississippi Valley.

A council spokesman said if the rate of deaths reported Thursday continued, traffic fatalities for the holiday period will exceed 400.

In the one-day New Year's celebration last year, 160 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents. That was the highest total on record for a one-day observance of the New Year holiday.

Survey Made B. AP

The Associated Press, for comparative purposes, made a survey during a non-holiday period and counted 341 traffic deaths, 109 killed in fires and 105 fatally injured in miscellaneous accidents. The period covered 102 hours from 6 p.m. Wednesday Dec. 10 to midnight Dec. 14, the same length as the extended holiday weekend.

In one of the worst New Year's Day accidents, six members of a La Porte, Ind., family were killed in the crash of a single engine plane in a farm field near Pontiac, Ill. They were en route home from a vacation in California.

Gambler Freed In Slaying Of Tavern Owner

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A gambler with a severe tongue has no connection with the slaying of Tony Mirabile, says police.

When Robert Womach, 25, was brought to a hospital Thursday with 1½ inches of his tongue cut off, police thought there might be a tie-in between the injury to Las Vegas, Nev., card dealer and the shooting of Mirabile, wealthy tavern owner with suspected underworld connections.

But Womach told them his tongue was cut off by a woman in Tijuana who robbed him of $40. He refused to give further details.

Liberals Urge Change

Rayburn Action Set To Check Rebellion

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—A series of huddles centering around House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) was expected today to stamp out a budding revolt against the power of the House Rules Committee.

The revolt is led by a sizable group of self-styled liberals. The Rules Committee now is dominated by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

The liberals seek to limit the committee's power to bottle up legislation. They would do this either by a change in House rules or by the addition of a liberal Democrat to the committee, now composed of eight Democrats and four Republicans.

Rayburn returned late Thursday from his Texas ranch, where he has been vacationing since Congress adjourned last summer.

He wouldn't comment on the rules proposals, but there were clear signs he would oppose them. He apparently was quietly sizing up the situation and lining up his forces for a showdown at the Democratic caucus next Tuesday morning.

Leaders of the liberal group reported privately that Rayburn already has wooed away much of the support they had counted on. Telephone calls even before Rayburn left Texas, they said, convinced them that the speaker was dead set against changing the rules.

Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) has told newsman he has an agreement with Rayburn which would leave the Rules Committee lineup unchanged. There are two Republican vacancies, and they are slated to go to Reps. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo.) and Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.) if they want them.

If the liberals lose in Tuesday's Democratic caucus, they probably will try again Wednesday when the House convenes formally and adopts rules for the new session.

Eastern Air Lines To Resume Service As Walkouts Settled

By The Associated Press

Eastern Air Lines readied some of its planes today for limited north-south service in the wake of a 38-day strike by flight engineers. American Airlines remained shut down for the 14th day by a pilots' walkout.

The first inbound Eastern plane at Idlewild Airport—from Miami—was due to arrive shortly before 1 p.m. The first outbound flight to Miami was set for 2:30 p.m.

About 30 flights were scheduled for today with hopes that full service would be restored by next week.

Some 18,000 Eastern employees prepared to go back to their jobs as the line signed a New Year's Eve peace pact with its engineers, and came to an understanding Thursday night with the Air Line Pilots Assn.

Eastern engineers and machinists walked out Nov. 24, grounding the line's 188 planes. Agreement was reached later with the mechanics, but they respected picket lines maintained by the engineers. The engineers refused to accede to a company request to take jet pilot training. In place of requiring pilot training for the engineers, Eastern announced it will have three pilots on each of its jets. These will be in addition to the engineer.

The last stumbling block to resuming service was removed when Eastern and its pilots signed an agreement which assured the pilots their rights would not suffer from the new contract with the engineers.

The new engineers' contract provisions allow for a new wage scale for DC-6 jet airliners, including $1,377 a month for senior flight engineers and 3½ per cent to be paid into a new pension fund.

American Airlines pilots struck Dec. 19 in a demand for higher pay, shorter hours, and compensation for nonflying time away from home. Top pilots' wages at American have been $1,002 a month.

Hoffa Faces Legal Action By Monitors

NEW YORK (UPI)—A court-appointed board of monitors set up to watch over the Teamsters Union was prepared today to block by legal means the union's avowed attempt to organize New York's 24,000 policemen.

Godfrey Schmidt, a New York attorney and member of the board, said no formal action was planned at present, but added:

"With our court-appointed powers, there is no question but that we definitely can stop this action."

Schmidt described as "a publicity stunt" and "pure bluff" teamster plans to begin picketing New York City police installations Jan. 12.

"At this moment, the whole thing looks like a publicity stunt," Schmidt said. "It's another move by Hoffa (Teamsters President James R. Hoffa) who is under a compulsive motive to throw his weight around."

(In Philadelphia, the president of the Fraternal Order of Police said the teamsters' drive would be unsuccessful if tried in Philadelphia. James J. Loughran said that by today most of the lodge's 50,000 members in major U.S. cities will have received reminders that union membership for police is against the order's constitution.)

Bartender Tries Register Repair And Gets Caught

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bartender Gene Bruce started to fix the cash register and got into a fix instead.

The cash drawer stuck. Bruce put his hand inside a door on the side of the register to open the drawer.

Some of the cogs grabbed his hand and held on — for three hours.

County police tried a cutting torch. When that got too hot for Bruce, they used a crowbar.

Bruce is all right, but the register is in bad shape.

Fires, Explosions Hike Holiday Toll

By The Associated Press

At least 28 persons — 12 of them children — died in fires or explosions on New Year's Eve and the start of the holiday weekend. Fires claimed 24 lives.

At Rochester, N.Y., a quiet New Year's party in an apartment ended in a fire that killed six persons, including two 5-month-old infants and a 2-year old girl. Five of the victims died of asphyxiation.

A Laboratory Worker Death Cause Listed

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—A medical expert says a technician killed by radiation in a Los Alamos atomic laboratory died from damage to his central nervous system.

He also says it may have been the first death of that type outside of war.

Dr. Thomas Shipman, head of the health division of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, says it was more than damage to the bone marrow blood-forming system that caused the death.

Cecil W. Kelley, 38, who had worked in the atomic laboratory about 11 years, died Thursday, 36 hours after the accident.

He was preparing a process to extract plutonium and said all he recalled was a flash as he started a stir operation in a tank.

Shipman said he believes that "outside of warfare, this may be the first death" of this type.

"I think it is other than the bomb casualties in Japan," he said. "Those were the deaths caused by the atomic bombing of Nagasaki and Hiroshima, which ended World War II."

Jap Ends Life After Attempt To Blast Plane

TOKYO (AP)—Thirty passengers and crew of an airliner narrowly escaped death today when a bridegroom attempted to blow the plane apart. The attempt failed and the bridegroom leaped into the sea; a suicide.

A spokesman for the All-Japan Airways said a confectionery wholesaler, Akira Emoto, 31, tried to blow up himself and the plane with 25 sticks of dynamite.

He said Emoto failed, and opened the plane's door, and jumped to his death in the sea.

Strikes Not Forbidden By Any Federal Statute

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rash of 1958's year-end strikes overshadowed the fact that the overwhelming majority of labor-management negotiations last year ended peacefully.

But those strikes which immediately and directly affect the public, such as those against airlines and New York newspapers, raise a question of compulsory arbitration.

Can the public be protected against a repetition of the strikes? Can such idea of compulsory arbitration be banned? What will Congress do?

Strikes Not Forbidden — No federal law forbids such strikes. Congress rejected the principle of a strike ban when it passed the Taft-Hartley Act, covering the railroad and airlines, and Taft-Hartley, covering most other interstate business and industry.

The Railway Act does not forbid a strike but has built-in machinery for delaying one while public efforts are made to get a settlement. It's the same with Taft-Hartley.

Under T-H when the President thinks a walk-out might damage the national welfare, he can prevent a strike for 80 days. But under both acts, when all tries at a settlement fail, the strike can start.

A change in congressional thinking would appear more probable if the time came when a strike damaged the nation as a whole so badly that it seemed necessary to prevent a repetition in order to avoid disaster.

Even then Congress almost certainly would not forbid strikes generally but aim, instead, at key industries broadly affecting the public. Likely targets: such public utilities as railroads, airlines, telephones, buses, electric power.

But how could there be a fair settlement in those fields if labor, to enforce its demands, could not strike and management, to put pressure on a union, could not shut down its plant?

To try to be fair to both sides, Congress probably would require compulsory arbitration. An outsider would be appointed to listen to both sides and then give a decision binding on both.

Labor Opposes It — Organized labor as a whole, treasuring its freedom to strike for what it demands, is against compulsory arbitration which could force it to accept what it did not want. Management probably would not object.

Moscow May Set Up Relations With Cuba

MOSCOW (AP)—The possibility that the Soviet Union might establish diplomatic relations with the regime of Cuban rebel chief Fidel Castro emerged today. The Soviets had no relations with deposed President Fulgencio Batista.

splitting up American-owned sugar estates among the peasants, confiscation of all properties acquired through corrupt government and breaking the hold of some big businessmen on Cuba's economy.

The bearded guerrilla warrior has denied Batista's charges that he is a Communist or is Communist-influenced. Castro says his goal is to end corruption, establish democracy and help the small man among the 6,410,000 people of this Pennsylvania-sized island.

Castro and Urrutia were expected to make a triumphal entry into Havana.

The capital quieted down Thursday night after an orgy of celebration, looting and retaliation against supporters of Batista. Three policemen and 10 looters were reported killed.

There was no indication that any of the 12,000 Americans in Havana had been harmed. The State Department said in Washington it had no plans for evacuating U.S. citizens.

With the Havana International Airport closed and cruise ships avoiding the city, however, the U.S. Embassy announced a ship was on the way from Key West to take home stranded tourists.

Batista gave up the presidency and fled to the Dominican Republic early Thursday. His family and scores of his top officials departed hastily by air or in planes and boats for the United States.

Batista said he was quitting to save Cuba from further bloodshed.

Sugar Prices Drop Sharply

NEW YORK (AP)—World sugar futures dropped sharply today in heavy trading following the collapse of the Batista government in Cuba.

March delivery was quoted in early dealings at 3.19 to 3.30 cents a pound, down between .35 and .47 of a cent. The daily limit of change is .50 of a cent.

January delivery, for which no daily limit applies, was quoted at 2.99 bid, off .67 of a cent.

Sugar industry sources reported that if the Cuban civil war is nearing an end, prospects are that Cuba will produce most of the 5,900,000 Spanish long tons of sugar as recommended last week by the Cuban Sugar Institute.

Talks Resume In Hard Coal Region Pact

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI)—Representatives of the United Mine Workers and the anthracite operators resumed negotiations this morning with some 21,000 hard coal miners working on an extended contract agreement.

A strike was threatened when the old contract expired at midnight Wednesday, but UMW Vice President Thomas Kennedy announced earlier in the day that the pact would be extended until 7 a.m. Monday.

Kennedy said the extension was an effort to keep as many as possible of the miners working to the last minute while negotiators hammered out the details of the new contract.

The negotiators held a four-hour session New Year's Day and recessed until this morning.

Mike Windham, criminal investigator on the reservation, said about 10 Indians were engaged in tossing the dynamite out of a doorway like firecrackers when one of the participants apparently dropped a lighted stick into a box of dynamite, touching off an ear-splitting blast that left "nothing but toothpicks."

Dead were Deb Hinton, 27, and his 17-year-old sister, Nona.

MURPHYSBORO—A TALE OF TWO DECEMBERS—On Dec. 18, 1957, a tornado struck the town of Murphysboro, Ill. The savage storm which swept the small city in the south of the state left nine dead, 61 injured and 110 homes destroyed. After that tragic day, a doll, left, possibly intended as a Christmas present a week later, was found lying before a house swept from its foundation. But now, just a year later, residents have begun moving into brand-new, low-rent homes, right, built by the Jackson County Housing Authority with the cooperation of the federal government. Many residents have returned.

Probe Begins In Blast At Missile Plant

By The Associated Press

A naval board of inquiry will try to find out what caused an explosion in a missile propellant plant at Indian Head in which two men were killed and two others critically injured.

The blast, which occurred shortly before midnight on New Year's Eve, killed two civilian employees, Francis A. Thomas and Alfred C. Clark. They were putting a graphite coating on basic grain powder at the time.

The injured, also civilians, were taken to Providence Hospital in Washington.

The blast blew apart the brick walls of a 30 by 60-foot structure at the propellant plant. Damages were estimated at $20,000.

Two big fires struck the Catonsville area of Baltimore County early on New Year's Day, one at Spring Grove State Mental Hospital and the other at an auto agency.

A two-alarm blaze swept through a storage building at the hospital, but was checked before it reached the patients' quarters. Two firemen were overcome by smoke.

A three-alarm fire brought firemen from all parts of Baltimore County and city to the auto agency, located on the edge of Catonsville's business district. The building was badly damaged and some vehicles were destroyed.

Still another fire in Northeast Baltimore yesterday injured a 28-year-old man and a 2-year-old boy. They were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with severe burns.

Governor To Discuss Suit Over Candidacy

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin meets with his attorneys today to decide if he should intervene personally in a suit challenging his right to run for mayor of Baltimore.

A Superior Court hearing on the suit is scheduled for 10 a. m. Tuesday. Should McKeldin decide to intervene, his attorneys may ask for a delay in order to prepare their arguments.

Francis X. Gallagher has filed the suit, which contends that McKeldin cannot meet the residence requirements outlined in the City Charter.

The charter specifies that a candidate for mayor must reside in the city 10 years prior to the general election—which this year will be held May 5.

McKeldin, ineligible for a third straight term as governor, filed for the Republican nomination for mayor last month.

The governor has maintained a home in Baltimore while living in the executive mansion in Annapolis during his tenure in the State office.

Marine Guards Nabbed For Theft In Hub City

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Three Hall where the police station is located. Patrolman Jack Shrader, leaving the station, collared the two marines. The third marine was caught by Bennett when he ran through the police garage and up a driveway.

Each was charged on two counts of larceny and were held overnight in the Washington County Jail.

Police identified the three as John Joseph Reilly, 20, of Pasadena, Calif., and Robert Andrew Zupko, 19, of Somerville, N. J., all assigned to the permanent Marine detachment at the camp near Thurmont.

Police said the coats stolen were valued at about $150.

Patrolman Jack Bennett said he was on a routine patrol Thursday when he saw the three men leave the "Dutch Kitchen." Two of them quickly reentered through another door. When they came out again with the coats on their arms, Bennett said he shouted at them to stop, but they ran. Bennett chased the Marines across a downtown square and up a street past City

Business Officials Make Resolutions That Affect Public's Pocketbooks

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the day we start breaking New Year's resolutions. Let's look at some that have been made by business and government officials — ones that affect our pocketbooks.

President Eisenhower has resolved to stand firm for a balanced federal budget in the fiscal year coming up. If he can make this resolution stick, there will be no new inflationary pressure from another Treasury deficit — and no need for a general tax increase.

Various congressional leaders have promised to keep the spending urge in bounds so that tax collections will have a chance to keep Uncle Sam out of the red — or at least not too far in it. If this resolution survives the upcoming session of Congress, taxpayers will have at least a breath of relief.

The Federal Reserve Board has resolved to see that the business recovery will be backed by enough money and credit to keep it rolling along at a sensible pace — but not enough to stimulate speculation and thus threaten a boom and bust.

Various leading institutions are promising there will be enough money for mortgages — unless a new inflation makes a building costs too high or a return to a tight money policy makes funds scarce.

A number of corporations have resolved to put out large sums this year on new plants or equipment. If this adds up, as now expected, to a slight increase in business spending over 1952, the business recovery will have attained an important ally. Some industries are promising to hold the line on prices and many think the price line generally will be held pretty stable. This resolution is threatened from many angles — monetary inflation, or rising labor and distribution costs. And the National Assn. of Credit Management flatly predicts that the government's whole-sale price index for all commodities will rise to a record high by midyear.

But before you get too cheered up by all the goodies being promised this: The federal government is taking a bigger slice out of your paycheck now. It's withholding more for social security tax payments. If you make $4,000 or more a year, Uncle Sam will keep $130 of it this year, compared with $94.50 in 1952. You'll have less with which to pay those Christmas bills.

NON-DANGEROUS CURVE—A quarter-mile of continuous railroad rail rides on 34 flat cars, so flexible that it follows curves as the train comes off a siding. The rails were welded by the new NCG continuous rail-welding system. Standard 39-foot length rails are fed into one end of a traveling welding car and emerge at the other end as continuous ribbons of steel on the flat-car train. Sponsors of the new system say welded rails will save millions of dollars in track installation and maintenance costs and in reduction of damage to rolling stock and freight caused by the "rock-and-roll" as car wheels click over the gaps between old-fashioned bolted rail joints.

Dear Abby - - -

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter married without our consent but because we loved her we accepted this boy with open heart. He is selfish, inconsiderate and stubborn. Two months after their marriage she became pregnant. She is expecting in May. Our son-in-law came to us yesterday and told us they decided to give the child up for adoption. He said he didn't want the responsibility of a baby as he is too young (he's 19) and he wants our daughter to continue working and a baby would be in the way. We pleaded with him but got nowhere. My daughter wants the baby but her husband says if she keeps it he will leave her. (We'd gladly take her and the baby.) She doesn't know which way to turn. Please advise her through me to make a wise decision.

JUST MOM: DEAR MOM: Your son-in-law wants none of the responsibility of marriage. He bought himself a bed-partner for the price of a marriage license. Tell your daughter to keep her baby and if her "husband" leaves, he leaves. A legal separation with provisions for the baby's support might be just what the boy needs to help him grow up.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 16-year-old boy who takes out an 18-year-old girl and gives her instructions not to order anything on the menu that costs over seventy cents? Then for a tip he puts down twenty pennies? I have never been so humiliated in all my life.

ANGIE: DEAR ANGIE: When you play with Little Leaguers you have to go by their rules.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever I invite a few couples in for a social evening, my husband always starts the conversation with "How's business?" The men start talking about business and we women either sit there like dummies or we have to start our own conversation about clothes or children. I want everybody to have a good time, but no matter how many times I try to change the conversation to include the women, they always end up by talking about business. Is there a solution for this?

SICK OF BUSINESS: DEAR SICK: Some men aren't able to discuss anything other than "business." If your object in entertaining is to provide a pleasant evening, don't try too hard to channel the conversation.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for nine years and with the exception of this one complaint we have been very happy. My husband introduced me to a married couple who seemed nice. Then he confided that before he met me, he had a romantic affair with this woman while her husband was overseas. He expects me to be nice to this woman, but I have all I can do to be civil to her. He says it's all over between them now and I should forget it. Do you think I should try to be friendly with her or is my husband asking too much?

CAN'T FORGET: DEAR CAN'T: Skip this couple and go around with people who are "new" to both of you. Your husband is definitely asking too much. (P. S. Give my regards to "Big Mouth.")

CONFIDENTIAL: Exhausted: Your child is spoiled because you can't spank two grandmothers.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Fearless Forecast Made By Television Critic

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What will 1959 bring Hollywood? It's that season for predictions, and I'm willing to go along with it if you are. But first I'm going to see how I did with last year's guesses.

On the credit side are these: Elvis Presley will be drafted. Top Oscar winners will be British-born (half-right). "River Kwai" will be the picture to beat in the academy sweepstakes. Love will find Lana Turner (yipes!). "South Pacific" will be top money maker. Dramas will be hot in films. Westerns on TV. Lots of talk on pay-TV but little action. Also: Marilyn Monroe will return to Hollywood for a film. Brigitte Bardot will become the movies' sex queen.

My sole strikeout: That Lauren Bacall would marry Frank Sinatra. Well, it was close. Okay, then: what about 1958? Let's be a little more fearless this year and try some tougher picks. Such as:

Frank Sinatra will not get married.

One major studio will go out of business.

"Ben-Hur" will be the top money picture. "Diary of Anne Frank" the most honored picture. Brigitte Bardot's vogue will fade.

Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher will wed, to no one's surprise.

Ingrid Bergman will make a on the shelf. Some of the veteran film heroes abroad. The Westerns will continue to who have been getting top prices. Still no action on pay-TV. And I hope I'm right in predicting that you have an excellent year yourself.

The TV comedians will go back made.

Pork Leader As Good Buy At Weekend

Meats Plentiful;
As Are Fruits,
Vegetables, Fish

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pork has swung into the lead at meat counters for this week end, as the holiday season comes to a close. Food dealers are featuring loin roasts, and hams and picnics, and some have specials on bacon.

You'll find your food store ready to meet your needs, whether you're shopping for fill-ins, or have some full-scale entertaining left to do.

Beef steaks and roasts are features at some stores, broiler-fryer chickens have come back in others, and some are staging clean-up specials on turkey.

Eggs are in generous supply, and so are dairy products.

The citrus fruits—oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines—have taken over value-honors at the fruit counters. Remaining supplies of apples add color and chances for good buys.

Top values at vegetable counters are cabbage and lettuce, with plenty of potatoes, and other good values in rutabagas.

In the fish line, best buys are canned tuna, shrimp and halibut. That's the big picture nationwide.

Good Supply

Meat counters will have plenty of steaks available for the week-end after New Year's Day. All favorite cuts will be on hand, sirloin, rib, and porterhouse. And you'll find rib roasts of beef abundant, too. Fresh and smoked hams will also be in generous supply, and some markets will have attractions on lamb.

At the dairy counter, you'll find eggs and dairy products at reasonable prices to round out a nourishing diet.

In the produce section, Eastern potatoes are top values, and so are spinach, Chinese cabbage and all the greens. You'll find good buys, too, in domestic round cabbage, escarole, and endive, radishes, mushrooms, lettuce, peppers, onions, sweet potatoes, and carrots.

In fruit, Eastern apples are excellent buys, and bananas also are extremely reasonable. Other good buys are Florida oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines, California oranges and grapes, and pears. A fairly good buy are lemons and Washington apples.

Best buys in fish are whiting, fillet of flounder and sole, scallops, oysters, lobsters, and fish sticks.

Maude Arnica was the flower girl. Thomas A. Downs Jr. served as his brother's best man, while Richard Wheeler, John Blake and Edward Andrews were the ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace made on Empire lines and wore a finger-tip-length veil held by a half hat of lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white camellias with sprigs of holly.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is a senior at Frostburg State Teachers College, where she is president of Alpha Psi Omega, a member of the French Club and active in the Little Theatre. She spent a season in Plymouth, Mass., in summer stock.

Mr. Downs is a graduate of Williamsport High School and Frostburg State Teachers College, class of 1957. He served with the Army at Fort Knox, Ky., and is a member of the faculty of Williamsport Elementary School.

The bride's parents entertained with a reception for the couple following the ceremony at the All-Ghan Country Club. Mrs. Kenneth Hager, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl, assisted by Mrs. Thomas A. Downs Jr. and Mrs. Richard Wheeler and Mrs. Charles Patterson, served the cake.

Following their wedding trip through Virginia Mr. and Mrs. Downs will reside in Williamsport.

President Said To Be Withdrawing

Some Theorists Point To Apparent Lack Of Interest In Press

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: President Eisenhower's relations with the press, indeed his public relations, have been pictured recently in print and over the airwaves by some well-regarded Washington veterans as deteriorating.

Recent critical articles and commentaries have pictured the President as withdrawing even more from reporters since the November elections. According to some theories this is because he can't seek re-election himself and therefore isn't too interested in changing his way of life or making the extra effort to have closer contacts with the men and women who chronicle his activities.

As pointed out in a previous "Backstairs," reporters represent to the President the business or formal side of his life. If he has occasional press conferences and his press secretary, James C. Hagerly, keeps up a running flow of official information, Eisenhower sees no need to do more.

He just doesn't see the point in social overtures toward men and women who, in his opinion, are merely doing their jobs. His attitude is essentially the same toward people in government. He sees and talks with them as business requires, but seldom asks them to a "steak fry."

In fact, not a single member of the administration, according to those who should know, has ever been an overnight guest at the Eisenhower farm here. But there are frequent close personal friends at the farm.

Eisenhower said quite graciously earlier this year that he enjoyed holding news conferences, thought they served a highly useful function and that he, himself, learned from them.

Down underneath, however, the President still does not relish the idea of getting up before reporters to answer questions when he really doesn't have anything to say or no hard news announcement to make.

He made this abundantly clear to friends at the start of his administration. He said he'd go along with the institution of the press conference, but he frankly did not like the idea of having a press conference purely to conform with a schedule.

Furthermore, his press conferences are not what could be classed strictly as regularly scheduled. He has had only two since the Nov. 4 elections. He spends long periods away from Washington and never holds a press conference when he is away for holidays in Georgia, Rhode Island or up there in Pennsylvania.

One of his predecessors, the late President Roosevelt, used to hold news conferences on the road. Former President Truman also held more than a few out-of-town meetings with newsmen, particularly during his long stays at Key West, Fla.

What the reporters miss most is a chance to chat with Eisenhower informally, to make small talk which can and usually is much more revealing than the carefully thought pronouncements of a speech or a television appearance.

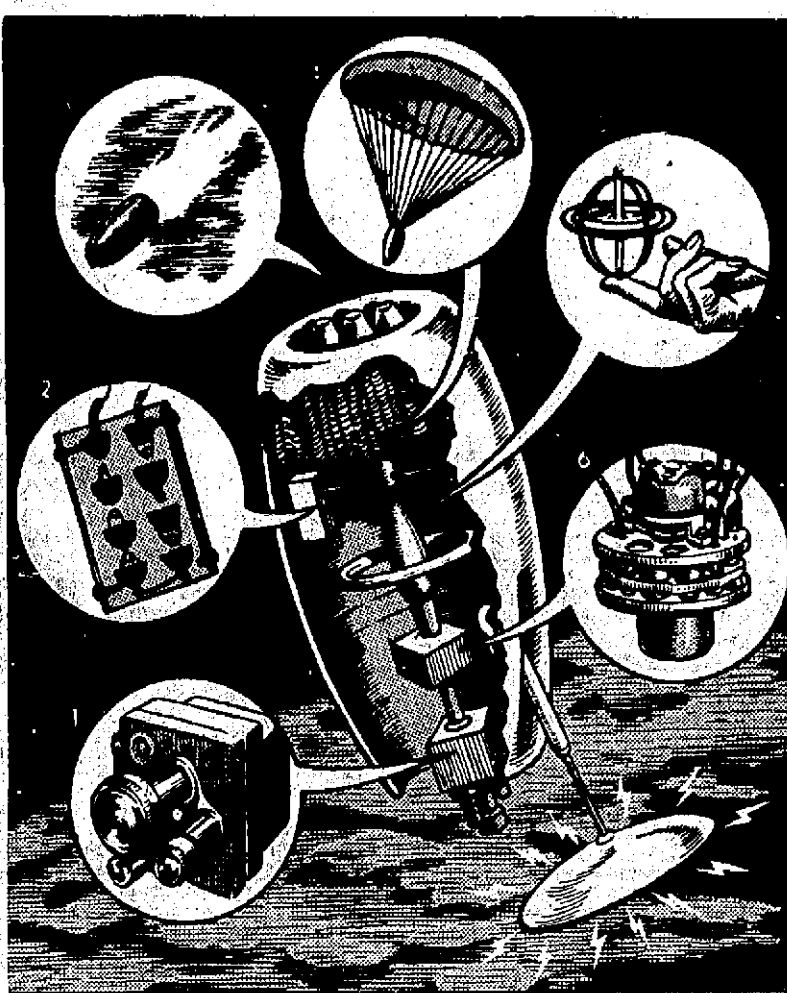

Some reporters do have rare opportunities to "bull" with Eisenhower, but these are few and far between.

There was a time when Eisenhower found it hard to believe that reporters had to go everywhere he went, in and out of town. Sometimes he even expressed dismay that they were along on purely recreational trips.

But if he continues to harbor any such ideas, they have not been evident since his 1955 heart attack in Colorado.

He now says, "I know they have to be here, but I'm afraid I won't make much news."

No amount of explanation, however. (Continued on Page 10)

SPACE 'EYE' TO FOLLOW ATLAS 'EAR'—The United States intends to follow up its highly successful Atlas satellite "ear" in space with an "eye." This will be the "space watch" satellite, shown above. Features could include (1) telescopic camera capable of scanning globe for picture transmission; (2) sun-power battery; (3) retro-rockets to propel information-laden satellite back to earth at radio command; (4) specially designed parachute to slow final descent and prevent burning up in atmosphere; (5) gyro-stabilizers to keep satellite vertical; (6) tape recorder, housed with transmitter, to record on magnetic tape data on radiation, temperature and other space conditions. Antenna would send impulses to earth.

Japan Leads Far East In Field Of TV

TOKYO (UPI) — One and one-half million television sets rise from the graceful, tiled rooftops of Japan today, symbols of a boom that is growing space.

In another year three million of officially registered sets will be picking up telecasts in every corner of the nation, from southernmost Kyushu to northernmost Hokkaido.

By the end of 1960 the figure should reach four and one-half million, with 109 stations in operation.

The boom has thrust Japan, in the space of only six years, into a position of world importance in the television field.

Right now Japan is so far ahead of the rest of Asia that it is doubtful whether any nation in this part of the world will be in a position to challenge it for many years.

The Philippines, Formosa and South Korea all have embryo television operations, but nothing approaching Japan's.

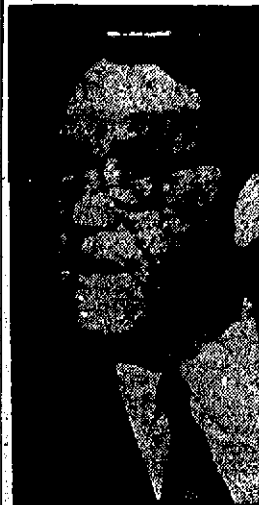

Actually, more than two million sets are believed to be in operation here now.

"Two out of every five set owners hide their aerials," explained Kotaro Fujiyama, public information director of the National Association of Commercial Broadcasters.

The purpose is to hoodwink the man from NHK, the semi-governmental network, who collects a monthly 83-cent tax from every home with a tell-tale aerial.

This means there will really be five million sets here by next year and seven million by the end of 1960 — or better than one for every four households.

At the moment, Japan trails only the United States — which has an unapproachable 46 million sets, Great Britain and Canada in the number of sets. When all of Its 109 stations are in operation—58 commercial and 51 run by NHK—only the United States will be ahead in that department.

Russian Steel Output Tops Previous Record

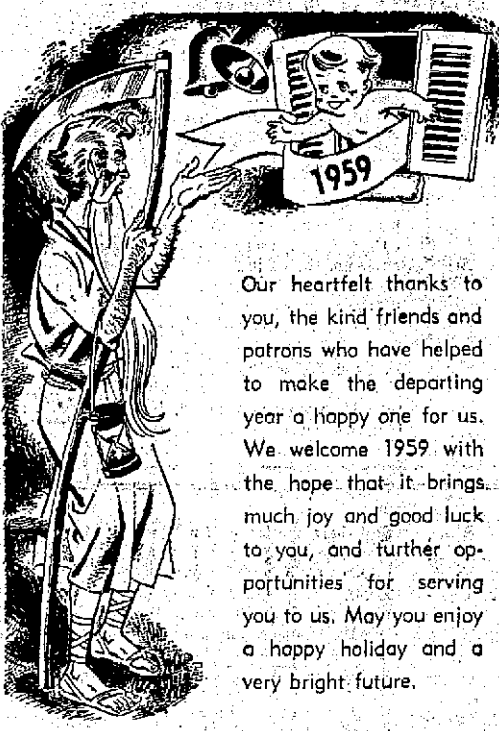

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Russia's 1958 output of 59,524,200 tons led the way as Iron Curtain countries gained on the free world produced in 1957. Observers believed Russia was producing as much as its capacity will permit.

The weekly metalworking industry magazine noted that in two decades the Soviet Union has changed from a predominantly agricultural nation to one which today is second only to the U.S. in economic strength. In 1930, when the first five-year plan was launched, Russia produced only 6.4 million tons of steel.

In Third Place
Germany's West zone ranked in third place in 1958 with a production of 26,175,220 tons of steel, down 838,780 tons from 1957. Among the free world nations which increased production during 1958 over the previous year were South Africa, Australia, Mexico, Spain, Yugoslavia, France, Saar, The Netherlands, Norway, Argentina and Formosa.

Decreased outputs were registered by the U.S., Canada, Great Britain, Japan, India, Brazil, Sweden, Austria, Belgium, Luxembourg, Italy, West Germany, Chile, Denmark, Finland, Turkey, Rhodesia and Colombia.

The eight Iron Curtain countries which upped production were Russia, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Rumania, second place in world production, China and Bulgaria.

Our heartfelt thanks to you, the kind friends and patrons who have helped to make the departing year a happy one for us. We welcome 1959 with the hope that it brings much joy and good luck to you, and further opportunities for serving you to us. May you enjoy a happy holiday and a very bright future.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever.—Morris.

The Game Goes On

PRESIDENT Eisenhower has committed himself to a remarkable effort. He proposes to try to balance, in fiscal 1960, a federal budget expected to be out of balance by some 12 billion dollars this year. There probably isn't a taxpayer in the country who doesn't wish him well. The alternative of another deficit spells either more borrowing, which means added inflationary influence, or more taxes, which cut purchasing power directly. Whether or not the President has real hope of achieving his announced goal of a balanced 77-billion-dollar budget is a matter sure to be hotly debated in the weeks ahead.

HIS PLAN presumes reasonable advances in federal revenues, probably including a rise in the gasoline tax. It also envisions cuts in certain existing programs affecting housing, farm aid, and unemployment compensation. These last may be easier to propose than to bring about. Federal programs have a way of clinging to life tenaciously. It is to be noted, too, that Mr. Eisenhower actually intends to ask for more defense money than ever before in peacetime. This means all the burden of attaining a balanced budget is upon the nondefense items.

THE ONLY TROUBLE with that, practically speaking, is that the recent history of the budget shows a pretty steady climb in the total nondefense budget outlay. And there have been predictions from highly responsible sources that this trend will continue for years to come. In the light of that, some will be saying that the President's 1960 budget proposals are unrealistic and have been tossed out now in order to place responsibility for heavier spending on the big Democratic majorities in the new Congress. Just how realistic his plan is will be told by the totals we ring up next year on the federal cash register. As for passing around the blame or credit for actual results, that little game will go on at full pace, as it always has.

Bark Without Bite

IF IT WERE NOT for the threat of real peril which lurks in the background, there would be something quite comical about the noise the East Germans are making over Berlin. Day after day they tell the United States and the whole West that the Reds won't tolerate their staying in West Berlin. The talk really gets tough. But in fact they're like the little pooch who has the nerve to yip at a powerful adversary only because he himself has the protection of a big Saint Bernard. If the Saint Bernard in this case—the Soviet Union—should withdraw from the scene, the yipping from the East Germans would stop in a second. The East German Communist government is a pitiful regime, almost totally lacking in real support from the population after 13 years of trying for it. The East German Reds have no convictions except those made for them in Moscow. And they have nothing of their own to back them up with, either. It's something to keep in mind the next time the barking gets loud.

File For Next Year

SOME OF US CAN cow our toddling children into keeping their hot little fists off the Christmas tree. But we have to face it: Most of them can't be bluffed away. The kids know a natural target when they see one. Who wouldn't want to put the crusher on a gaily colored, fragile thing like a Christmas ornament? But parental ingenuity is a wonderful thing, too. The other day a story popped up about a fellow who solved the problem by turning the Christmas tree upside down and hanging it from the ceiling. Certainly his approach was bold. It is an effort that will not pass unnoticed. Yet, since we are all pretty accustomed to looking at trees right side up and on the floor, this involves something of a psychological wrench. An alternative that comes to mind is to surround the tree with an electrified fence (mild charge, of course). The fence itself could be gaily decorated, and might enhance the whole scene.

SOME economists think inflation may price U. S. goods out of the world's markets. Ominous additional thought: Maybe our own, too.

Possible Use For Those Talking Satellites

Doris Fleeson
Demos To Control Senate Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON—The Democratic high command of the Senate, having examined its conscience, the precedents, and the election returns, has decided not to give in to Republican demands for extra representation on the Committee of Foreign Relations in the next Congress.

In the fair name of bipartisanship, some Republicans had put forward the proposal that despite their shrunken numbers in the new Congress, they be allowed the same representation on the committee that they enjoyed in the last session when the Democrats had a bare majority. That would have meant eight Democrats to seven Republicans on the committee. This will be denied.

Majority leader Lyndon Johnson intends to assert the Democrats' right to committee memberships proportional to their greatly increased majority. Since he has the votes to back him up, his authority will be as good as final.

SINCE TWO Republican members of the committee—H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey and William E. Knowland of California—retire with the dying Senate, this will mean that no Republican could be thrown off the committee, as may happen in other cases. Their places will simply go to Democrats rather than Republicans.

This is not bad news for the State Department. Republicans on the committee in the past have often had foreign policy views at variance with the Administration. Knowland, minority leader as well as a committee member, notably took an independent view and contributed considerably to the rigidity of the Administration's policies toward China and the Orient.

REPUBLICANS who will remain on the committee in the new Congress include Senators Alexander Wiley, Bourke B. Hickenlooper, William Langer, George D. Aiken, and Homer E. Capehart, only two of whom, Wiley and Aiken, could be classed as internationalists.

The Democratic majority, on the other hand, includes some of the ablest of the Senate's younger members to counterbalance the 91 years of the venerable Chairman Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island.

Since places on Foreign Relations are eagerly sought for, some present members of the Senate may compete with the newly elected Democrats for the party's two or perhaps three new places.

ALTHOUGH the record has not proved to be true, membership on Foreign Relations is considered one of the basic requisites for a Senator seeking the Presidency.

Two Democratic front-runners, Hubert H. Humphrey and John F. Kennedy, are both members. Humphrey, with more seniority than his younger colleague, has the chairmanship of the subcommittee on disarmament. It is from this vantage point that he expects to keep in the news in 1960.

But there are lesser if not less compelling reasons for wanting to be a member of the committee. One of the perquisites of membership is invitations to the constant social functions of the some 80 embassies which dot Washington. Wives of some Senators have been known to put relentless pressure on at home to make sure their husbands landed in this choice berth.

Whitney Bolton
Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—The City of New York is a bright place during the holidays, the windows vivid where they have not been changed from Christmas, and the streets and formal and somehow still inviting as they show the evening wear for New Year's Eve festivals.

Within a few days, even that kind of arranged gala air will be gone and such prosaic things as bed-sheets and pillow cases will go into the windows, signalling the January White Sales, huge, fluffy towels, colorful washcloths filling in the spaces where sheets and pillow cases are not shown.

JUST BEFORE Christmas things slowed down a little along Fifth Avenue and in 57th Street. Even the best restaurants began to have smaller patronage, as though the usual spenders had spent themselves out and were at home opening a can of soup and some spaghetti.

Your reporter met George Solitaire at the theatre, two nights before Christmas, and he said: "I had dinner at the Colony. Hardly anyone was there." Knowing the Colony to be one of the most expensive and elegant restaurants in all New York, it didn't seem puzzling that it was quiet and there were tables available.

"Who was there?" I asked. "Well, Barbara Hutton; Mrs. Jessie Woolworth Donohue; her son, Jimmie; Samuel Goldring, the international banker and Joe DiMaggio. That's about it. Joe was with me."

"Only half the money in the United States," I said. "What do you want, basket parties?" "Well, it did not seem crowded," said George. "And it was only about a third of the money in the U.S. I would not say a half."

THE MOVIES grind out some frightful trips in the way of spy movies, phony, contrived, ridiculous, as any even fairly good working spy could testify. And the 35-cent paper-back book stalls are filled with authentic stories of international spy apparatuses, chilling, thrilling and factual. The movies never seem to buy them or hear of them. Therefore: a case in point.

In 1937, the Macmillan Company published a spy novel by London's Ian Fleming, a taut, frightening story about 87 per cent of which either was true, or founded in truth. It was called, "From Russia, With Love."

Mr. Fleming, who had been in British Intelligence, wrote it with care and all of it was plausible, daring and most interesting. Its descriptions of the physical layout of some of the most secret rooms in Russia were correct to the last table, chair and wall light. Also, he had the correct address in Moscow of a dreamed secret-within-secrets executive of such things.

HE GAVE HIS characters their real names, real addresses and real assignments. In the deadly cold war between Russia and our friendly nations, he gave secret information on some events in Istanbul and, as one who has been there, his descriptions of things there were frighteningly accurate.

It is now out as a 35-cent reprint, but intact and from all of the foregoing you can tell it is an amazing book. It would make a great movie, but no one has had the wit to make it. And if you want to know what our side is up against in spy operation, read it.

THE BOOK WAS written in 1956 and, therefore, a few administrative changes have crept in, such as Bulganin's position in Russia, time having altered that man's status shattering, but one paragraph in light of Serov's recent abrupt change of job, is fascinating. "And Beria and all his court had gone to the gallows," while General G. (Grubozabovskiy—W. B.) had been given Smersh as his reward. As for Army General Ivan Serov, he, with Bulganin and Khrushchev, now ruled Russia. One day, he might even stand on the peak, alone.

"But, guessed General Vozdvizhensky, glancing up the table at the gleaming billiard-ball skull, probably with General G. not far behind him."

Put that two-year-old paragraph away and wait and see. Finally, and perhaps only incidentally, Fleming puts down, as the 1956 personnel of Smersh: 40,000 persons, the world over.

ARE YOU a visitor to New York, or recently have been, and have you had difficulty getting in and out of the stock car, taxis, as against the roomy old fellows that used to roam the streets? Perfect your folding-up techniques, friends. They are experimenting with a tiny imported cab designed to hold only three persons, on the demonstrated fact that 80 per cent of all taxi business in New York is with only one passenger, at the most two, at one time. The waste space is uneconomic.

Washington Calling

WASHINGTON—In the lull before the Congressional storm a lonely band faces an uncertain destiny. The liberal Republicans in the Senate, 12 of them by charitable count, are making valiant sounds of battle.

But the difficulty, as more candid members of this beleaguered company admit in private, is finding a piece of the political terrain on which they can stand. As Eisenhower Republicans they find President Eisenhower dug into a position offering them no comforting self whatsoever.

Phyllis Butole
Assignment America

NEW YORK—The January sales are almost upon us already. They are advertising 20 per cent off on the cosmetically controlled dog houses with picture windows, and once again Mrs. America reverts to the instincts of Eve.

A woman, faced with a bargain, is wily and shrewd and at times treacherous. The merchant holds forth the apple of advertising, and she reaches out—ready to eat and run.

Ah, but wait. She wants to believe that advertising. She wants to think that her floors can be shiner, cheaper, and her wardrobe can be greater for less. But she is canny this woman. She distrusts those sweeping claims.

"WHY?" SAYS Charlotte Montgomery, an expert in the matter. "Because a woman knows from experience. An advertisement that shouts 'now throw away your iron' is wasted on a smart woman, who knows that no drip-dry fabric is that perfect. Or a cleaning product that claims 'just a gentle wipe with a cloth'—she knows it isn't that easy."

Miss Montgomery is a writer for Good Housekeeping, speaker and consultant on the matter of advertising. She has studied the U. S. housewife and her response to sales pitches, and firmly believes that the little lady's gullibility is highly overrated.

"Women dislike phony pre-pricing, for instance," she says. "Take a big ad for an electric cooker, pre-priced in big letters at $39.95—and now reduced to $7.95. Some women may believe this, sometimes. But not for long. And such things undermine their faith in all advertising."

The same thing goes for any advertising that's unbelievable. Recently a woman in the Midwest sent me a clipping of a retail store ad for 'wallies at $2.98—values up to $20. Now maybe there were one or two old beat-up dogs in that lot which had once been tagged at $20, but the claim was unbelievable and enough to sour this customer enough so she wrote in about it."

SHE, THE AVERAGE bargain shopper, is a caretaker of kids and dogs, who probably worked before her marriage, and admires honesty above all values.

With a dollar, she may be itchy to spend—but she is not naive.

She proved that this year—in one of the most exciting coups for common sense.

The top fashion magazines, couturiers and cynists tried to "con" Madame U. S. into wearing the shapless chemises. For months, they spread the glowing news that the sack was back for smart women everywhere.

Well, smart women everywhere said the devil it is. They closed their eyes and their pocketbooks to it, proving they had come of age. Proving, also, that he who underestimates a practical female will be left holding the bag.

WASHINGTON—The Dixon Review of 1958 continues. But don't give up hope. This is the last of it.

AUGUST: The Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee was considering what looked like a simple routine bill to clear title to 40 acres of Mississippi scrub land which had been sold by the original owner, an Indian, in 1852. Suddenly Senator Clinton P. Anderson, of New Mexico, began sniffing like a beagle hound. Asked what occasioned his olfactory pyrotechnics, the senator replied: "I smell oil. When anybody finds a defect in a title going back 106 years it's got to be an oil company lawyer."

At almost the same time, the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee of the House was considering a routine private relief bill for 16 Sioux Indians in South Dakota. The clerk read off the names of the supplicants: "Emma Oldhorse ... Henry Follow Horn ... George Bear's Knees; then 'Patrick O'Rourke.' Whereupon Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, of New York, let out a roar, 'Somebody strayed off the reservation!'

SEPTEMBER: Donald F. Ludlow, of the London Mirror, discovered that the locked door policy still is being pursued in diplomacy. On a September Sunday he called at a Southeast Asia embassy, but a guard behind the glass door merely made helpless gestures at him. Ludlow reported this strange behavior to the ambassador next day, whereupon the envoy explained blandly: "That was Ahmed. We lock him in every weekend."

Chairman Charles P. Taft, of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, lured Republican National Chairman Meade ALCORN, and Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler into the same hotel room and extracted a pledge from both that they would countenance no smear campaigns. As a result there were no smears—just solid lathbrush strokes.

OCTOBER: Not a thing happened in October. I was on vacation.

NOVEMBER: Nelson Rockefeller instituted a reverse political philosophy. Until this pioneer came along, the generally accepted theory was that a man went into office poor and came out rich.

The day before the International turf classic at Laurel, Prince Aly Khan addressed the National Press Club on horseracing. His chauffeur remained parked outside. One of our diplomatically conscious cops baffled the Prince's driver by leaning in the car window at him and remarking sadly: "I can't do nollin' to you. You got diplomatic immunity."

DECEMBER: We celebrated the 28th anniversary of the Repeal of Prohibition in a veritable orgy of sobriety. The Distilled Spirits Institute announced that 55 per cent of our adult population now drinks alcohol in one form or another. At last we are in the majority.

Senator Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, loomed as our ultimate weapon after he talked for eight straight hours to Russian Premier Khrushchev. This could be our massive retaliation.

At the Eisenhowers' first formal dinner of the season, guests gave cloakroom attendants quarter tips to retrieve their wraps. This was very embarrassing to the White House because no one in this Administration had ever before accepted a gift.

I set a satellite-beating speed limit. Two minutes after blast-off New Year's Eve, I broke all my New Year's resolutions.

SUPPORT PLEDGED—Pledges of support of Rooseveltian policies sound a heavy overtone in both wings of Congress on the eve of the regular sitting of the 73rd Congress. The first hot debate is expected to be started by free silver advocates.

PRaised BY FDR—A federal insurance program for all bank deposits up to $2,500 goes into effect throughout the nation, drawing word from President Roosevelt that this should result in "renewed faith" in the banking system.

TAKES OVER POST—The Treasury opens today with a new secretary, Henry Morgenthau Jr., for the first day of business in 1934. The resignation of his predecessor, W. E. Woodin, was the first break in the Roosevelt cabinet.

PROJECTS APPROVED—The Mayor and Council approve a list of 22 projects for the painting and repair of city-owned buildings and the band stand in Riverside Park. The total cost will be nearly $5,000 and the city plans to obtain CWA funds for the work.

BOMBARDING RUINS—Warships off the coast of Messina bombard the ruins of the city in several places where fire breaks out as the only available means of fighting the flames in the earthquake stricken city.

SITE SELECTED—The Secretary of the Treasury selects a site for a public building to be erected at Frostburg. The new building will be located at the northeast corner of Main and Water streets on a lot 100 by 132 feet.

STARTS NEW TERM—Charles E. Hughes, the "bossless governor," is inaugurated for a second time as chief executive of New York State. The assembly chamber in the $29,000,000 monstrosity that Albany calls the capitol building is filled to overflowing.

BLOCK ENDANGERED—The 200-block of Virginia Avenue is endangered by a fire which originates in a business operated as a saloon and restaurant. Only quick and efficient service by firemen save the entire block, which is built of frame, from going up.

Auto Buying Seen Key To '59 Business

20 To 30 Billion Rise In National Product Predicted

NEW YORK (AP) — With the season for predictions at its peak, let's take a look today at what some of the experts think 1959 has in store for us. Later on, perhaps, it might be fun to see how close they come to the mark in their economic penny-pitching.

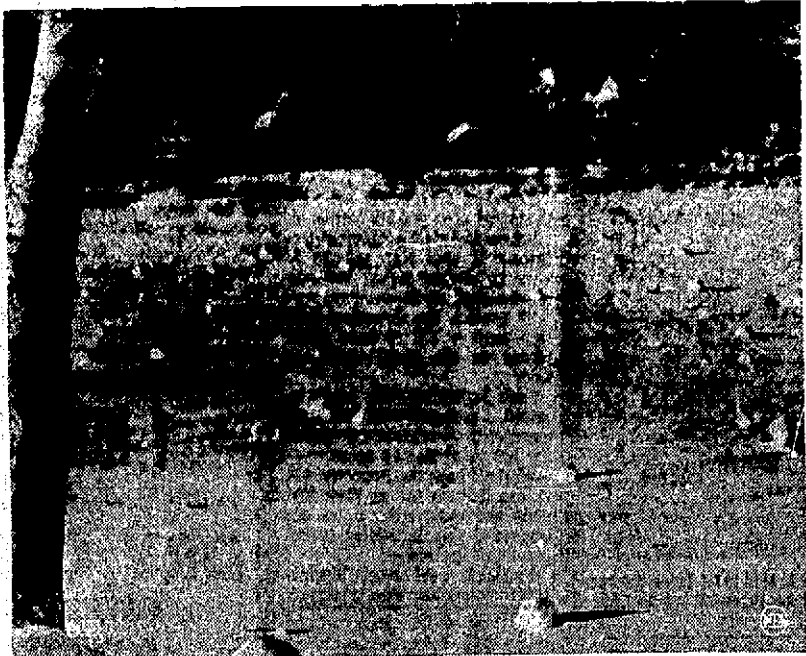

One of the leaders in the expert business, the magazine Business Week, looks for a good year. About to add "push to the recovery" already under way, it says, will be inventory accumulation by industries which were trimming stocks in 1958. Another force will be increased home building over the next few months.

But if 1959 is to be better than just good, the magazine says, people will have to buy more autos. And on that point it declines to guess. It says consumers should have five billion dollars more at hand in 1959 for buying durables — autos, household appliances and the like. If they spend it, the business year is made.

They'll be able to borrow if they like, S. Clark "Coke" president of the Bank of America, the nation's largest, says. The Californian says credit resources will be adequate for business and industry, for many more new homes, and for purchases of autos and appliances. The National Industrial Conference Board has had 15 economists in a huddle. They agree that 1959 is unlikely to see much of a drop in unemployment and expect four million to be out of work next June.

They look for price stability in most lines, and for little increase in business spending on new plant and equipment. But the think the gross national product — total dollar volume of the nation's output of goods and services — will rise from its present annual rate of 450 billion dollars to between 470 and 480 billion by the end of 1959.

Stanley C. Hope, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, calls himself a restrained optimist about the 1959 business outlook. He predicts steady, unsensational, growth in total personal income in business invest-

GREAT BALLS OF SNOW! — Lake Flower, near Saranac Lake, N. Y., is a mass of large snowballs, rolled by capricious winds. A rare combination of wind, snow, temperature and

Communes Build For Socialism

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

AP Foreign News Analyst

Broadcasts from a Chinese Communist station show a retreat from the radical equalitarian communism in many of the new people's communes.

These communes are semimilitary units of tens of thousands of people which own everything and run everything in all rural China — agriculture, industry, politics and even a local militia or army. As originally organized they were not totally equalitarian, but apparently as the movement has spread with forced impetus from the Peiping government, they have generally become more radical and more equalitarian.

Some stress is put on the idea that the communes are building for socialism, not communism. Earlier the Chinese Communist party's Central Committee indicated that the communes would permit China to move directly into communism in the near future.

To non-Communists the distinction between socialism and communism may seem thin. But not to Communists. Socialism is defined as a stage of development in which all persons work according to their abilities and receive compensation according to their quantity and quality of their work. Communism, on the other hand, is a stage in which all work according to their ability and receive according to their needs.

Broadcasts proclaiming a retreat from extreme equalitarianism emanate from Wuhan Station in Hupeh province in central China. They cite a letter from Wang Jen-chung, the first secretary of the Hupeh province Communist party, saying "there is now an erroneous tendency toward absolute equalitarianism." It adds that ment in plant and equipment, and in industrial output.

Ralph A. Bing, vice president and economist of the Commonwealth Investment Co. San Francisco, thinks the recovery has up enough steam to keep rolling well into 1959. But he looks for a gradual slowdown in the recovery rate by the middle of the year.

But Donald M. White, executive secretary of the Aluminum Assn., says there is general optimism in that industry over chances of increased output and sales in 1959.

And T. E. Vellfort, managing director of Copper & Brass Research Assn., says "copper's future is as bright as the metal itself."

As for steel, Max D. Howell, executive vice president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, is out on the limb with fairly precise figures. He says 1959's output will be 100 to 110 million tons, compared with this year's 85 million, and with 1958's record 117 million tons.

Robert E. Lee was made a Confederate general on June 14, 1861.

Rockefeller's Win Dissected

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press-International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is an old time political wisecrack which says "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." Maybe that explains the success of Gov.-elect Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller of New York.

Rockefeller was elected in November as a Republican. He didn't do any or much bragging about the Republican Party, however, and his campaign posters and literature played way down the fact that Rockefeller was, indeed, on the Republican ticket.

The candidate kept his distance, in general, from the policies and personalities of the party whose ticket he graced in New York state. It appears that he tried to thumb Vice President Richard M. Nixon out of New York altogether during the campaign. There being no visa required, however, Nixon crossed the state line and in the ensuing embarrassment Rockefeller was lassoed into having breakfast with him.

A Personal Triumph
President Eisenhower also campaigned in New York; but his public statements were wide of the Republican Party line as the President had drawn it elsewhere; in California, for example. Out of all of this, for Rockefeller, came a great personal triumph, so great that he must be counted now as a man whom the Republicans may and, likely, will, nominate for president in 1960.

This is a prospect which saddens the conservative elements of the Republican Party and, no doubt, causes the friends of Vice President Nixon to toss in their sleep. These interested parties doubt Rockefeller's party regularity, which is putting it mildly. Moreover, they are not alone in this.

A friend of mine dropped me a note the other day relating that he had been gabbing politics with Gov. Averell Harriman, the left Democrat whom Rockefeller licked last November. It was Harriman's opinion that the Republicans would not nominate Rockefeller for president in 1960.

A "Liberal Democrat"
Harriman said Republican Rockefeller was too far to the left for the Republican Party, adding, "even more so than I." If Harriman is correct in his judgment of where Rockefeller stands, politically, then the governor-elect is very far to the left, indeed, because Harriman is 'way' way over yonder, himself.

Again, this week, Harriman fingered Rockefeller as something of a New Dealer. This was at a press conference during which Harriman said this:

"In my opinion, Mr. Rockefeller ran as a liberal Democrat."

In 1952 the GOP rejected Mr. Republican, himself—the late Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft—to nominate Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who last previously had registered himself as an independent. None had been tagged in advance, however, as a liberal Democrat.

W. Va. Vegetable Team Rates Fifth

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — A 4-H vegetable judging team from West Virginia placed fifth in the recent national junior vegetable growers convention in Biloxi, Miss., it was announced Monday. The team from Summers County had 2,495 out of a possible 2,700 points and finished behind Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and New York.

President

ever can solve the disappointment, even pique, of some Washington correspondents. As in any segment of capital life, there is an element in the news world that does not like being ignored completely by the President of the United States outside of a nodding acquaintance in a press conference.

Some of these people went for walks with Truman. Others, a very few, can recall going to the White House on some Sunday nights for scrambled eggs with the Roosevelt family.

But Eisenhower doesn't even say hello to the reporters when he alights from his plane in Augusta or Thomasville or Newport.

Strangely enough, this is not a matter of his manners. Nor does it reflect any particular dislike for members of the fourth estate. It means simply that in his mind, the reporters are on the scene just as the Air Police honor guard, the Secret Service agents, the communications staff — doing their job. And he certainly doesn't say hello to any of them.

Reporters, just as government administrators, are business to President Eisenhower. And business you take up in the office, when you have any.

Sen. Randolph Predicts Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President's approval of a new program to aid West Virginia and other depressed areas was predicted today by Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.).

President Eisenhower vetoed a depressed area aid bill last June. Randolph said he believes Congress will give high priority to such legislation during the new session starting Wednesday.

"I predict the President will sign such a bill if it is again placed on his desk," Randolph said.

Such legislation this year, he added, probably will contain emergency provisions for speeding aid to distressed areas.

"I would hope the President will realize that so far as West Virginia and some other states are concerned this legislation is imperative," he added.

Randolph said West Virginia needs federal aid now more than it did last year.

Employment in the coal mines, he said, has dropped to 47,000 from 123,000 in 1948. There are about 200,000 West Virginians eligible for surplus food under the government's distribution program.

Randolph has written United Mine Workers officials that the program to help West Virginia should include efforts to attract new industries as well as revitalizing coal and other basic industries.

Milk, to be homogenized, is put under a pressure of 2,000 to 3,000 pounds per square inch. Then it is forced through valves which break up the fat globules into tiny particles, so tiny that they do not rise to the top of the bottle, but stay mixed with the milk.

Westernport Not Compelled To Chlorinate Dam Water

WESTERNPORT — The State Board of Health has no power to compel the Town of Westernport to furnish water to persons outside its corporate limits, according to an opinion handed down by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Because of the extra expense of operating a chlorinator at the Savage River Dam, the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport decided to chlorinate the town water at the new filtration plant as soon as it was completed. This action would leave 19 consumers in the Savage River Valley, the Town of Bloomington and the woodyard of the Luke paper mill without chlorinated water.

Arrangements were made by both the paper mill and the Bloomington Water Company to chlorinate raw water from the Westernport line as soon as chlorination is discontinued at the dam.

The other 19 consumers in the Savage River Valley were offered raw water from the line at a reduced price if they would sign an agreement with the town not to hold the town responsible for any illness that might result from the use of raw water. Most of the 19 Savage River Valley consumers signed this agreement.

The above arrangement was not satisfactory to the Maryland Board of Health and that body brought suit against Westernport in Allegany County Circuit Court in an effort to force the Mayor and Commissioners to continue chlorinating its water supply at the Savage River Dam.

Assuming that he will be back this year, Memorial Day will have a special meaning for the Boston Red Sox' great hitting star, Ted Williams.

On that May 30 holiday, in the uniform he has worn since he first went up to the Red Sox in 1939, Ted will join the Yankees' Enos Slaughter in the exclusive 20-year club.

In qualifying for the gold major league lifetime pass, which Slaughter received in 1958, Williams can look back on a brilliant career. That initial 1939 season saw him hit .327. The 1958 campaign ended with Ted winning his sixth American League batting championship, with his lifetime batting average of .349 being one of the greatest ever compiled.

High mark in his seasonal performances was in 1941, when he hit .406, the last major leaguer to achieve that mark.

Ted was in military service all of the 1943-1944 and 1945 seasons during World War II, and missed most of the 1952 and 1953 seasons while flying in the Korean campaign.

Lowest season average for the big Yankee star was in 1950, when he suffered an elbow fracture in the all-star game at Chicago and batted only .317.

Whereas 20-year vets receive gold lifetime passes, 10-year men are awarded major league lifetime silver passes. The league's reserve list shows that the Chicago White Sox lead in this category, which is based both on playing service and time spent in the armed forces.

White Sox players now holding 10-year rank are Ray Boone, Nellie Fox, Billy Goodman, Sherm Lollar, Les Moss, Don Mueller, Billy Pierce, Gerry Staley, Earl Torgerson and Early Wynn.

Other club 10-year veterans, in addition to Boston's lone representative, Williams, are: Kansas City, Ned Garver; Detroit, Johnny Groth; Herm Wehner; Gus Zerby; Cleveland, Bobby Avila, Larry Doby, Mickey Vernon, Lee Wertz; Washington, Ed Delaney; Ed Filizgerald; Baltimore, Gene Woodling; New York, Hank Bauer, Larry Berra, Manky Dickson, Bobby Shantz, Virgil Trucks.

Eight-year rank, which is compiled only on playing service, now is held by Joe De Maestri of Kansas City; Randy Jackson and Minny Mingo of Cleveland; Roy Sievers of Washington; Jim Busby; and Al Carrasquell of Baltimore; Gil McDougald of New York and Jackie Jensen and Willard Nixon of Boston.

Sports Keg Residue

Maybe the hair-raisers the National Football League has been televising in recent weeks has spoiled us, but those bowl games yesterday didn't seem to have much appeal.

Or could it have been that we were looking at those Thursday games through rose-colored New Year's eyes?

Hats off to street commissioner Johnny Long for pushing for that ball field and those tennis courts at Constitution Park.

We've always thought the park would be an ideal place for a diamond, and tennis-lovers are bound to find it that way, too.

The net sport has caught on with a bang in recent years, thanks mostly to the untiring efforts of the late L. E. (Red) Van Sait, and the city's chief three sporting goods stores (Sports Shoppe, Wilson Hardware Company and the Toy Shop) report that 1958 was a banner year in sale of tennis equipment.

Dick Stuart, slugging first baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who sometimes drew more fire from fans than the opposing pitchers, got some highly authoritative praise from Ralph Kiner.

"That guy can do just about anything he puts his mind to on a baseball field," said Kiner.

Kiner, who operates the San Diego club of the Pacific Coast League, said Stu can be a big help to the Pirates for a long time to come, if he "makes up his mind to play like he can. He just has to channel his thinking in the right direction."

Said Kiner, who put the Pirates on the map a few years ago with his home-run hitting: "Coach Clem Closser of Salem (W. Va.) College has had little to cheer about during the current basketball season. . . . And he was understandably excited some days ago when Dave Christie, a half-pint freshman, led the Tigers to their first victory of the season with a 35-point performance against Glenville.

Closser, who formerly assisted Jesse Riggleman at Petersburg High, also wears the hats of athletic director, baseball coach, assistant football coach and publicity director at Salem—but he loves it.

"A good break for a good guy." That's the way we view the appointment of William "Bee" Grondorf as the new tax collector of Allegany County. . . . Bee has been a familiar figure on the local sports scene for about 25 years and has always ranked near the top in popularity. We're sure he will be as competent at his new job as he was as a competitor in athletics and later as a whistle-blowing official.

Only Iowa, Oklahoma Live Up To Bowl Notices

Clemson's Late Error Gives LSU Big Chance

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The Iowa Hawkeyes and Oklahoma Sooners were the only college football teams that lived up to their press notices in the New Year's Day bowl games.

Iowa and Oklahoma stunned their bowl victims with speed to score easy victories but Louisiana State's national champions had to pounce on a fumble to edge Clemson while favored Texas Christian fumbled its way to a scoreless tie with the Air Force Academy.

Iowa crushed California, 30-12, in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.; Oklahoma defeated Syracuse, 21-6, in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.; Louisiana State blanked Clemson, 7-0, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La.; and the underdog Air Force team held TCU to a scoreless deadlock in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex.

Prairie View A&M, national Negro college champion, defeated Langston (Okla.), 34-8, in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, Tex.

In Wednesday's Sun Bowl game at El Paso, Tex., Wyoming edged Hardin-Simmons, 14-6.

12th Big Ten Win

Iowa, with Bob Jeter and Willie Fleming bludgeoned over the Rose Bowl turf like hopped-up jack rabbits, crushed California to give the Big Ten its 12th victory in 13 appearances in the grand-daddy of the post-season games. Jeter was chosen the game's outstanding player.

Jeter, a 185-pound junior from Weirton, W. Va., and Fleming, a 175-pound sophomore from Detroit, thrilled the 98,287 fans and blasted California's hopes as the big Iowa line sprung them loose for long runs. Jeter set two Rose Bowl records, one for the longest run from scrimmage, an 81-yard scoring dash, and one for an individual rushing high of 194 yards. He averaged 21.5 yards per rush on nine attempts.

Jeter set up Randy Duncan's seven-yard touchdown pass to end Jeff Langston with a 41-yard dash and his springs helped produce Duncan's one-yard scoring plunge. Fleming scored on runs of 37 and seven yards. Iowa was favored by 18½ points.

Credits Home Run Play

"It was the home run play that did it," Coach Forest Evashevski of Iowa said, referring to the long runs made by Jeter and Fleming. "Passing with All-America quarterback Randy Duncan doing the throwing" has been our big punch but we believed we could run against this California team. So we worked on that. It paid off."

It was the same story in the Orange Bowl. Coach Bud Wilkinson's wiry, fast Oklahoma Sooners struck for three long-range touchdowns to humble Syracuse before 75,281 fans. Prentice Gautt raced 42 yards to score in the opening minutes, Ross Coyne set an Orange Bowl record when he ran 79 yards to score on a pass from Brewster Hobby and Hobby zoomed 40 yards to score with a Syracuse punt. Oklahoma was a 13-point favorite.

Gautt, first Negro to play for Oklahoma, and Bob Harrison, All-America center, were two of the key players for the winners. Gautt blocked brilliantly during many Oklahoma drives and teamed with Harrison on defense to put on a tackling display that helped stop Syracuse. Halfback Mark Weber scored for Syracuse in the final period.

Clemson Tough Foe

Coach Paul Dietzel's Louisiana State Tigers, voted the nation's top team of 1958 by the United Press International Board of Coaches, had to use all their claws to subdue Clemson in the Sugar Bowl before 62,000. Louisiana State got the break it needed late in the third quarter when center Paul Snyder bounced a pass off fullback Doug Cline's leg when Clemson was in punt formation. Tackle Duane Leonard recovered for LSU on the Clemson 10.

Billy Cannon, All-America halfback for LSU, lost two yards at right tackle. Then he gained three around left end. On the next play, he ran to the right and lofted a pass to end Mickey Mangham in the end zone for the game's only touchdown. Cannon, who also converted, was voted the game's top player.

LSU (10-0) was favored by 15 points but Clemson led in rushing, 168 yards to 114, and in first downs, 12 to 9. The "Chinese bandits," Louisiana State's much-publicized defensive unit, had to stop Clemson on the LSU 27 in the final minutes to preserve the victory.

Defense Won—Dietzel

"Actually, our defensive unit won the game," Dietzel said. "The 'Chinese bandits' just went out there and took the ball away from them in their last drive."

Texas Christian was an eight-point choice over the Air Force in what was billed as the closest of Thursday's games. The 75,504 Cotton Bowl fans watched TCU fumble eight times while the Air Force bobbled five times. Jack Spikes, voted the game's top player after gaining 108 yards rushing, failed on two field goal tries for TCU. George Pupich fumbled three field goal tries for the Air Force during the scoreless, fumble-marred contest.

HAWKEYES SCORE ON PLUNGE—Fullback Don Horn (30) goes up and over for Iowa's third touchdown in the Rose Bowl against California. The play began on the four, with Horn smashing through right guard. Iowa players are guard Jerry Novack (65), halfback Willie Fleming (15, on ground in foreground). Cal players are halfback Hank Olguin (14), halfback Jack Hart (43) and guard Don Plestrup (61, right).

United States Cup Triumph Hit By Fraley

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The United States today holds the Davis Cup, emblematic of international tennis supremacy, in a "triumph" which a critical world is certain to scorn as a victory without honor.

For three years Australia reigned supreme. Then the brass hats of American tennis, squeezing the rule book until it molded to their conscience, used a young Peruvian who has avoided U.S. citizenship to regain a trophy which can't be that important.

The price had to be our international reputation for sportsmanship. Webster defines sportsmanship as "conduct . . . involving honest rivalry, courteous relations and graceful acceptance of results." These conditions were not filled down under as the United States defeated Australia, 3 to 2, in the challenge round.

Take Advantage of Rule

The score should read: Alex Olmedo of Peru 2½ points; Australia 2 points and the United States one-half point.

Because U. S. Lawn Tennis officials, selected the brilliant young Peruvian to play on the U.S. team, by taking advantage of a rule which says that a five-year resident can represent a Davis Cup nation in play.

It stands out as the greatest exploitation of Peru since Francisco Pizarro began bleeding the Incas in the 16th Century.

It is true that Olmedo, a student at the University of Southern California, is a two-time collegiate champion of the United States. It also is true that Peru does not have a Davis Cup team.

But to a world before which the United States is constantly on trial, it should be a nation of 170 million could not come up with three home-bred players but had to "draft" help from a nation of less than 9 million people. And the drafter did the job almost single-handed.

Avoids Military Service

Olmedo says flatly he never intends to be a bonafide draftee when it comes to serving in the armed forces of the United States. That is one reason he is not planning to become a U.S. citizen.

For one, consider Peru to be the holder of the Davis Cup. And I hope that Olmedo, one of 11 children, can get one of his brothers to play doubles with him the next time—and prove it.

Pancho Snyder Brewery Exec

By United Press International
Pancho Snyder caught in the National League for 16 seasons from 1912-1927—starting and ending his active career with the St. Louis Cardinals. Late in 1919, he was dealt to the New York Giants and turned in his best years for John McGraw, batting .321 in 1921 and .343 in 1922. All told, he caught 1,392 games and over that stretch batted .265.

Whatever happened to Pancho Snyder? Now 65, he is a brewery executive in his native San Antonio, Tex.

Nominations Listed For Garden State

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI)—Garden State Park officials announced today that 1,825 nominations have been received for the Garden State, the world's richest horse race, and the Gardenia, the two outstanding events for two-year-olds to be run during the track's 1959 fall meeting. The Garden State drew 836 nominations and the Gardenia 838.

Martinsburg Host To Sentinel Quint

A half-dozen high school quints were able to carry over perfect records into the new year and five of them will make their first starts of 1959 tonight.

Only Mt. Savage (5-0) of the undefeateds is idle and the Indians don't return to court activity until next Tuesday night when facing Hancock on the latter's court.

Two of the city's three schools swing into action tonight as Fort Hill travels to Martinsburg to test the surprising Bulldogs in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League fray and LaSalle opposes Ridgeley on the SS. Peter and Paul boards. Allegany will be inactive until a week from tonight when meeting Mt. Savage in one of the Western Maryland Interscholastic League openers.

Romey Faces Keyser

The all-winning quintets placing their records on the line tonight are Valley (5-0) against its Alumni, Romey (4-0) at Keyser and Petersburg at Franklin (6-0) in Potomac Valley Conference frays, while North Hagerstown (7-0) is at Westminster and Martinsburg (1-0) goes against the Sentinels.

The Red Raiders, who have lost only to North Hagerstown, 59-40, show a 4-1 log for the season. League wins have been against Frederick and South Hagerstown while LaSalle and the Alumni were also taken across.

The Bulldogs, who will be tangling with the Hilltoppers for the fifth time since the revival of the CVAL cage circuit, surprised in their opener Tuesday night by turning back Allegany, 67-64. The West Virginians were hard hit by graduation but finished strong to upset the favored Campers.

Both LaSalle and Ridgeley have been having troubles lately, the Explorers on a two-game losing skid and the Hawks having been set down in their last four tries. LaSalle has won two of seven as have the Hawks.

Valley angles for its sixth in the Black Knights' present unbeaten string. The Detmolders have already swept the two-game set with Piedmont while claiming triumphs over LaSalle, Keyser and Southern of Oakland.

Romey's high-scoring machine, paced by forward Bill Maples, meets a strong test when the Pioneers tangle with Keyser tonight. The Golden Tornado has a 4-1 mark for the year with the loss being to Valley. In the PVC, coach John Shelton's charges are unbeaten with victories over Elk

Collegiate Powers Set Sights On League Play

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball powers set their sights today on conference warfare following the greatest outburst of Christmas week tournament activity in the history of the game.

The hectic week of tournament jousting involved most of the leading top-ten teams and rang up merry tunes on the cash registers. It also served to point up again the talent riches of the Atlantic Coast Conference, especially of North Carolina State, 74-71 for the Carrousel title at Charlotte, N. C.

Louisiana Tech, subdued Virginia Tech, 71-66, in the overtime finale of the Gulf South Classic at Shreveport, La.

In major games outside of the tournaments on New Year's Eve, Northwestern's sixth-ranked Wildcats equalled its fieldhouse scoring record in trouncing Notre Dame 102-67 and St. Louis, ranked 16th, drubbed San Francisco 80-42.

Several Thursday Tournaments

But there was some firing on the courts Thursday, including a couple of tournaments in the East.

Bowdoin, beaten in its first eight starts, surprised Rutgers, 67-66, in the first round of the Downeast Classic, at Bangor, Maine. Bob Gorra's basket in the last two seconds put Bowdoin against Colby in the semifinals tonight. Colby beat Tufts, 64-55. The other semifinal matches St. Michael's, Vt. and Wesleyan.

Williams and Massachusetts moved into tonight's semifinals of the Springfield, Mass. College Invitational tournament. Williams avenged its only defeat of the season by trouncing Harvard, 83-67, and Massachusetts downed winless American International, 59-51.

Springfield and Amherst, first round winners Wednesday, play in the other semifinal.

In non-tourney intersectional contests, Butler came from behind a nine point deficit in the first half to nose out Navy, 59-58, at Indianapolis, and Ohio State raced away from crippled Brigham Young in the last 10 minutes, for a 100-81 victory at Columbus, O.

Despite sophomore Bob Skousen's 39 point spree for the losing Cougars.

NC State Impressive

N. C. State's victory in its own Dixie Classic—which had four of the nation's top ten teams in the field—was most impressive.

The Wolfpack, on the prowl for the national title, whipped seventh-ranked, previously undefeated Michigan State, 70-61, in the championship contest. To get that far, the fifth-ranked Wolfpack edged Louisville in overtime, 67-61, then toppled Cincinnati's second-ranked Bearcats from the unbeaten ranks, 69-60.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina, which had been beaten by Michigan State, 75-58 in the semifinals, bounced back to nip Cincinnati for third place, 90-88.

To make it all the more delectable for ACC fans, Duke beat Louisville for fifth place, 57-54, and Wake Forest walloped Yale 85-76 for seventh.

Undefeated St. Francis of Loreto, Pa., and Louisiana Tech, copped the other major tournaments.

Round Table Assigned Top Anita Weight

Yesterday's race results on Page 18

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Round Table, the world's richest horse, makes his 4-year-old debut Saturday with his fans hoping for a better fate than befell Silky Sullivan in his first start of 1959 after a rags-to-riches-to-rags 3-year-old campaign.

The little, hard-hitting Round Table from Travis Kerr's stable, who boosted his earnings to $11,336.364 en route to Horse of the Year honors in 1958, goes in the $50,000 added San Carlos Handicap at Santa Anita.

For the 7-furlong race, Round Table picks up top weight of 132 pounds and gives plenty of poundage to his rivals, who are expected to number as many as eight. Such proven sprinters as Seaneen and Hillsdale get in with 115 each while Golden Notes picks up 113 and Eddie Schmidt 112.

Silky Sullivan, whose slow starts and fast finishes caught the fancy of the racing fans last year before he disappeared in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, lost a little more of his luster Thursday at Santa Anita.

Showing nothing, Silky finished sixth in a seven-horse field in a 5 1/2 furlong race. Under Willie Shumaker, the nation's leading jockey last year, Silky was last at the start, last at the quarter and half-mile poles, fifth in the stretch and was beaten five lengths by the winner, Coronat, who paid $11.20.

"He obviously needed the race," was trainer Reggie Cornell's explanation of Silky's disappointing showing in the role of the odds-on favorite.

Silky Finishes Sixth

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Silky Sullivan, a much-publicized failure in the 1958 Kentucky Derby, opened his 1959 campaign Thursday by finishing sixth in the $6,000 Texas Sandman purse while Coronat won the six-and-a-half furlong event at Santa Anita.

Wins Sixth Straight

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—White Cachet, an Irish-bred horse ridden by George Munsell, recorded his sixth straight victory Thursday by winning Tropical Park's $11,475 New Year's Handicap.

LSU'S COSTLY FUMBLE—Ball goes wild after fumble by Red Brodnax (4), Louisiana State fullback, in attempt to go over Clemson wall to score from one-yard line. Clemson's Doug Cline (not shown) recovered in end zone, ending LSU's second-quarter Sugar Bowl threat.

Clemson center Bill Thomas (57) pushes against Brodnax. Play touched off controversy. Had Brodnax been ruled across goal before fumble, touchdown would have counted. LSU, ranked No. 1 in the nation, eked out a 7-0 victory. (AP Photofax)

Baylor Shines As Lakers Win

By United Press International
Elgin Baylor of the Minneapolis Lakers strengthens his bid for "rookie of the year" honors in the National Basketball Association nearly every time he plays. Baylor was at the right place at the right time again Thursday night. He climaxed a Minneapolis rally that produced a 106-105 victory over the Syracuse Nationals in the only NBA game scheduled.

Vern Mikkelsen's shot rimmed the basket with 20 seconds remaining but Baylor leaped and tapped the ball in for the decisive field goal. Baylor led the Lakers in the scoring with 22 points.

The Nationals, playing on their home floor, suffered their seventh straight defeat. They held a 10-95 lead with four minutes to go but Dick Garmaker then started the Minneapolis rally with two field goals and Baylor capped it with his tap-in of Mikkelsen's shot. Syracuse outscored Minneapolis from the floor by six baskets but the Lakers sank 34 of 39 foul tries while the Nationals made 21 of 24. Dolph Schayes of the Nationals topped the scorers with 32 points.

Russian Mentor Says U. S. Good Enough For Title

NEW YORK (UPI)—The coach of Russia's touring amateur hockey team today predicted that the United States national squad is good enough to win this year's world championship.

"The U. S. team is greatly improved over last year and if your players keep improving they could win the world championship," Anatoly Tarasov declared after the U. S. team rallied to tie the Russians, 5-5, Thursday night at Madison Square Garden. The Russians opened a 4-2 lead in the first period but the U. S. All-Stars scored three times in the middle session to go ahead 5-4. Eugene Crossehev then tallied during a power play in the third period to earn the Russians the stand-off.

Dick Burg paced the Americans with two goals. The other U. S. goals were credited to Dick Meredith, Weldon Olson and Tom Williams.

It was the Soviet team's first exhibition of an eight-game U. S. tour. Virtually the same squad won the world and Olympic championships at Cortina, Italy, in 1958 and lost only two of eight contests during a Canadian tour last year.

The Russians will meet the same U. S. aggregation in games at Minneapolis Saturday and at Hibbing, Minn., Sunday.

Dutch Cagers Snare First

SS. Peter and Paul took over leadership of the Catholic Youth Basketball League last night as the Flying Dutchmen whipped previously undefeated St. Michael's of Frostburg, 40-26, on the SS. Peter and Paul Court.

The victory was the fifth for the unbeaten Dutchmen while St. Michael's dropped its first after four triumphs.

St. Patrick's took its second victory in five tries with a 40-31 conquest of St. Mary's on the Gaels' court. The loss was the fourth in five games for the Gaels. The contest between St. Ambrose and St. Peter's of Westport was postponed.

St. Patrick's took a 10-2 lead over St. Mary's in the first quarter and never trailed in posting the nine-point edge. Lantz paced the attack with 19 points on eight goals and three free throws while Hudson hooped six fielders and a penalty pitch for 13 of the losers' total.

All six quints are to play Sunday with St. Mary's meeting St. Michael's at 2:30 on the Frostburg court while St. Patrick's opposes St. Ambrose at 2:30 on the SS. Peter and Paul boards and the Flying Dutchmen tangle with St. Peter's an hour later on the Fayette Street court.

West Virginia Host To Yale Quint Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia, one of the top 10 teams in the nation in the mind of Coach Fred Schaus, opens the 1959 portion of its winter schedule as host to Yale tonight.

It will be the first meeting between the two teams since 1919 when West Virginia won a 47-44 verdict here. That was the only previous contest on the cage court between the two schools.

Schaus said today he expected no hindrance from injuries sustained in the Tennessee game Monday to three of his star performers, including All America prospect Jerry West.

West Has Aching Back
West returned from the grueling two-game trip last weekend with an aching back and neck. He suffered the injury in a spill during the Tennessee game in which he scored 44 points.

Bob Clouson sustained a cut on the forehead and Bob Smith had two teeth loosened and a cut lip resulting from the game against the Volunteers.

Schaus said the performance of his team on the road — WVU dropped a double overtime verdict to Northwestern last Saturday and dumped Tennessee on Monday — was pleasing. He said the team's rebounding, defense and shooting was up to expectations. Yale comes here from the Dixie Classic Holiday tournament where it lost a first round game to Duke. The Eli's are led by 6-2 forward Captain Bill Bodman and high-scoring forward, 6-5 Larry Downs, who hit for 472 points to lead the team last year.

Wins 8 Of 11

West Virginia has dropped three of the eleven games played this season so far. Besides the North western loss, WVU was beaten by Virginia in a game at Charleston and dropped a heart-breaker to Kentucky in the finals of the KIT AT Lexington, Ky.

In the Tennessee game West, with his 44 points, became the third West Virginia player to amass such a high total, but it was not a record.

Former All America Rod Hundley hit the 44 point mark six times during his career, and holds the record, a 54 point effort against Furman in 1957. Former All America Mark Workman hit for 44 points four times during his career.

West is now shooting an amazing 53.2 per cent from the floor and 77 per cent from the foul line. He has a total of 281 points for the Mountaineers 11 games, a 25.5 average. If West Virginia defeats Yale it will give Schaus his 100th victory against 30 losses in four plus seasons as head of the Mountaineers. West Virginia also will be shooting for its 41st home victory.

After Yale, the Mountaineers meet Furman here next Tuesday in a Southern Conference clash.

Bill Veeck Gains Control Of White Sox, Says Paper

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune says a syndicate headed by Bill Veeck has bought controlling interest in the Chicago White Sox but the stock sale officially was denied.

John Rigney, club vice president whose wife, Dorothy, is the majority stockholder, said Thursday night: "It is not true that the sale has been made. Negotiations still are going on."

Roy Egan, Comiskey attorney and a member of the board of directors, also denied completion of the sale.

"If anybody should know it would be me," he said. "Completion of such a sale has not been made and I don't know if it ever will be."

Veeck, former head of groups who owned the Cleveland Indians and old St. Louis Browns, declined to comment.

The Tribune said formal announcement is being held up pending further negotiations with Vice President Charles Comiskey, minority stockholder who has been bidding for the shares of his sister, Mrs. Rigney.

"Veeck's long range plans, it was learned, include the likelihood of selling Comiskey Park, home of the White Sox since 1910, and the possibility of playing in Soldier Field or elsewhere," the Tribune added.

Hank Greenberg, who recently sold his minority stock in the Cleveland Indians, reportedly is a member of the Veeck syndicate.

Stevens New Brigham Boss

PROVO, Utah. (AP)—Brigham Young University promoted Tally Stevens from senior assistant to head football coach New Year's Day.

Stevens, 35, helped former coach Hal Kopp guide BYU to its highest Skyline Conference standing in its history.

President Ernest L. Wilkinson announced Stevens' appointment Thursday night. The salary terms or length of the contract were not disclosed, but Stevens said:

"I'm very happy with my contract."

Stevens said the major difference between his brand of football and Kopp's style is in variety. He plans to substitute a multiple offense for Kopp's wing-T.

He inherits a talent-laden squad which he helped Kopp recruit. Only 10 seniors will be lost by graduation from the Cougar team which battled Wyoming in the final game of the conference title. BYU had been picked to win the championship, but wound up third.

Stevens is a native of Evanston, Wyo., and was a star end for the University of Utah in 1946-47-48. He graduated in 1949.

Boxing Fans To Get New Look Tonight

By JACK MAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Fight fans start the New Year with a look at something brand new in Danny Moyer, a 19-year-old welterweight from Portland, Ore., who has won all of his 18 pro fights.

Young Moyer, of French-Irish parentage, appears before a network (NBC) television camera for the first time tonight when he boxes sad-faced Gaspar Ortega of Mexicali, Mexico in Madison Square Garden. The 10-round match also will be carried on NBC radio, starting at 10 p. m. (EST).

It may be that Moyer, a former AAU champ, will open and close in one. On the other hand, it may be the first of many appearances in the big arenas.

Boxing certainly needs new faces badly. It can't afford to wait. However, the expert opinion that has made Ortega an 8 to 5 favorite thinks the youngster is being rushed when he is pitted against an experienced opponent who has had 62 pro fights.

Moyer has a brother, Phil, who is campaigning as a middleweight. Their father, Harry, also was a pro fighter and an uncle, Tommy, is the promoter in Portland where the boys have had most of their fights.

Under New York rules a 19-year-old isn't permitted to box 10 rounds unless special permission is granted. The special permission was forthcoming for Danny, who has fought six 10-rounders in other arenas. The better-known boxers he has beaten while compiling his 18-0 record (four knockouts) have been Al Andrews, Johnny Saxton and Tony Dupas. He outpointed all three.

NEW YORK (UPI) — I don't often write about directors, but it would be foolish to credit the impact of Thursday night's CBS-TV Playhouse 90 to anything but the direction of John Frankenheimer.

Frankenheimer performed an extraordinary feat with a play, “Face of a Hero,” that in lesser hands might have sagged rather sadly. He picked up a vehicle that shuttled uncertainly between muddled ironies and limp platitudes and shot fever through it. He got some fine performances not only from his lead players, Jack Lemmon, Rip Torn, James Gregory, but from minor members of the cast like Carol Kelly, Henry Hull, Stanley Adams and Larry Gates.

As for the play itself, its core was not clear. It concerned a prosecuting attorney, with a passion for truth, who witnessed the seemingly accidental death of a girl, but failed to report it for reasons incomprehensible to me. It became the attorney's job to prosecute a rich young wastrel who had caused the girl's death—or had he?—despite pressures from propriety forces in the community. The attorney carried out his chore with some zeal after an initial hesitancy.

This play, however, suffered from a key flaw. If an irony was implied by the attorney's debate in the truth by prosecuting an innocent man, why was one scene inserted which indicated the wastrel was guilty? That he had beaten the girl, thus triggering her death. If, on the other hand, the wastrel was guilty without any doubt, what purpose was served by the attorney's conflict in failing to report the girl's death?

As you can see, I am getting into muddy waters here, but no matter, despite the disorder of the plot, Frankenheimer's skill almost gulled me into accepting it all. It's to his credit that he magicked me for almost the entire 90 minutes.

Short Shots: NBC-TV's Tournament of Roses Parade Thursday was a clear victory for color television over the black and white version carried by ABC-TV. Mel Allen's usual inanities didn't help ABC-TV's cause much either. The highlight of all the TV football games for me Thursday took place during CBS-TV's Cotton Bowl when a TCU player jumped into a pile-up, cheerfully flailing away with his fists, presumably directed at an Air Force man on the bottom—which goes to prove that boys will be boys even on television.

The Channel Swim: James Donald, suffering from pleurisy, has pulled out of the cast of the NBC-TV Jan. 18 special, Ten Little Indians. Kenneth Haigh has replaced Donald. CBS-TV is casting for a proposed new series based on the detective, Nero Wolfe.

John Kerr will star in “Berkeley Square,” the NBC-TV Hallmark Hall of Fame special for Feb. 5. The NBC-TV Bell Telephone House musical special for Feb. 10 will offer Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Rise Stevens, Martha Wright and the New York City Ballet.

The ABC-TV Donna Reed show has decided to expand its cast, adding a neighboring pair, Kathleen Freeman and Howard McNear. Guy Williams of ABC-TV's Zorro has purchased a 37-foot ketch and plans to take a trip to Easter Island in the Pacific. Signs of the times: Fabian, the 15-year-old singer who'll appear on the ABC-TV Dick Clark show Jan. 17, is the protégé of singer Frankie Avalon who is 16.

Army Offers Choice Career Enlistments

The Army is offering the finest enlistment choice in its history, according to Master Sgt. Wesley C. Hartley, recruiter in charge of the local station.

Under this new plan, he said, individuals enlisting may choose the exact career group in which they would like to receive training. Called the “Choose-It-Yourself” vocational training system, the new plan offers a young man or woman the opportunity to select service in an Army career group that satisfies individual desires and aptitudes.

The plan offers more than 50 career groups from which to choose, and as a result trainees are now able to receive the training they desire.

If a young man or woman wants to work in electronics and has an aptitude for that kind of work, the Army now guarantees on-the-job training or schooling in electronics after basic training is completed. This guarantee becomes a part of the individual's Army record at the time of enlistment.

In addition to electronics, other options of choice are combat; electrical maintenance; precision maintenance; military crafts; motor maintenance; clerical; graphics; general technical, and special assignment. Each of these areas, Sgt. Hartley explains, contains a number of career groups from which the applicant must make a choice.

For the present, Sgt. Hartley also noted, young men interested in serving in the Airborne can enlist directly for that branch, in addition to choosing assignment in a career group. More than 30 career groups are available for this dual choice.

State Mails Out Income Tax Forms

The Maryland Resident Individual Income Tax Return forms in excess of $5,000 regardless of the amount of the gross income, regardless of the amount of gross income, are being mailed to residents of the state.

You have until April 15 to file your returns. That's over three months from today.

During the past week, local residents have been finding the forms in their mailboxes.

General instructions for filing a return are included in the letter from the Office of the Comptroller in Annapolis.

Residents will be able to pay their taxes at the local office of the Comptroller, 9 Market Street, where personnel will give them assistance.

Edward V. Welsh, office manager, said yesterday that a schedule will be set up whereby employees of the office will visit communities throughout Allegany County to assist taxpayers in filing their returns.

A return must be filed by every resident of Maryland when his gross income for the taxable year exceeds $800 if single or if married, and not living with spouse; or when gross income exceeds $1,600 if married and living with spouse.

A return must be filed by every resident having gross sales or receipts from a trade or business in excess of $5,000 regardless of the amount of the gross income, regardless of the amount of gross income.

Also, a return must be filed by every resident when the combined gross income of a husband and wife living together exceeds $1,000 or when their combined Maryland income tax with gross sales or receipts from a trade or business exceeds $5,000.

He opened a club, held the hand to six, and scored a top.

Chief Parker Lauds City's Fire Program

New Code Should Result In Boost
By Underwriters

Fire Chief Virgil Parker said Cumberland's new fire code is a major move in prevention of blazes.

The code, he said, was recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

It sets forth detailed regulations, based on recognized good practice, for the safeguarding of life and property from the hazards of fire and explosions arising from the storage, handling and use of hazardous substances, materials and devices.

It also is designed to prevent hazards to life and property in the use or occupancy of buildings or premises.

Chief Parker said the code, contained in a 192-page booklet, replaces fire prevention rules which failed to keep pace with modern developments.

For instance, he said, the code sets forth very specific rules for safe handling of magnesium and its alloys. The old code, he added, contained no provisions for handling the metal, which is being used in some machine shops here.

The code provides, he said, that a supply of approved extinguishing powder for magnesium fires be kept within easy reach of each operator.

The installation and operation of oil burning equipment is covered in six pages of the code. Fire safety rules for bowling alleys, tire rebuilding plants, dry cleaning plants and service stations are included.

New bulk plants for flammable liquids are banned within the city limits.

Chief Parker said the new code will raise Cumberland's rating in the fire survey planned here next spring by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

CHARLES S. CUSICK

JOHN B. WHITE

PPG Promotes White; New Assistant Named

Charles S. Cusick of Ford City, Pa., has been appointed assistant plant manager of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works Seven here.

His appointment was announced by Ralph V. Reisinger, vice president of the company.

Cusick, who has been grinding and polishing superintendent at the company's Works Four at Ford City, succeeds John B. White, who has been promoted to plant manager.

Cusick joined the industrial engineering department of Works Four after his discharge from the service in 1946.

Since then, he has held responsible positions in most departments of the plant, and for the past two years he has been superintendent of grinding and polishing.

He is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh School of Engineering and is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and of the American Ceramic Society.

Cusick also is chairman of the Manor Township Water Authority, and is a member of the Armstrong County Memorial Hospital board of directors, and of the church committee of St. Mary's Catholic Church of Ford City.

He plans to move here as soon as possible with his wife and their five children, Daniel, 10; Charles Jr., 9; William, 5; Catherine, 3; and Margaret, eight months.

White moves up from assistant plant manager to replace Robert M. Hainsfurther, plant manager who has been promoted to general manager of plate glass operations for Pittsburgh Plate.

White, a native of Toledo, Ohio, took his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering at Ohio State University.

He joined PPG as an industrial engineer at Works Four, Ford City, in March 1952. He became optical tank department superintendent in December 1954 after having served as assistant to the County Board Confers On Cost-Cutting Plan

Methods of reducing costs at the Allegany County Infirmary, County Home and Sylvan Retreat were discussed at a meeting this week of the county commissioners and officials of the three institutions.

Commissioners John J. Rowan, John T. Mason and William A. Wilson met with Earl D. Grim, superintendent of the County Infirmary and County Home; Raymond G. Messmer, superintendent of Sylvan Retreat, and Dr. James E. McLean, county physician. Also present were Leslie J. Clark, county attorney, and James G. Stevenson, clerk to the commissioners.

One of the topics, according to Mr. Rowan, was the detention rooms at the infirmary, which are used for juveniles awaiting trial. It was decided to notify Dr. William R. Allen, a representative of the Allegany County Youth Commission, suggesting that representatives of the commission discuss this matter with Grim and Messmer.

The problem involved in having drunks committed to Sylvan Retreat also was discussed. Messmer reported that during 1958, some 100 persons were committed to Sylvan Retreat temporarily because of their drunken condition. They were not mental cases but the county had to assume the obligation of providing medical examinations and food for these persons.

Space in a barn on the county property was found where it was believed certain emergency Civil Defense equipment might be stored. William G. Barger, Civil Defense director, was requested to check the area to see if it is suitable.

Month Long Dimes Drive Opens Today

The annual March of Dimes in Allegany County begins today and will continue through the remainder of the month.

Louis V. Shinnamon, chairman, said canisters have been distributed in various business establishments and clubs.

As in the past, local and area organizations plan to sponsor benefit dances, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the annual campaign in the battle against polio and other diseases. Hugh A. McMullen is co-chairman of this year's drive; Victor M. Hebb will be in charge of the South Cumberland drive, and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave will head the Mothers March.

Shinnamon said that on January 15 a televised program from a station in Harrisonburg, Va., will feature talent from Cumberland and will be presented on behalf of the drive.

He also said the Mothers March will be held on January 28. A door-to-door appeal for contributions will be made.

Although no goal has been set for this year's drive, it is hoped that the approximately $9,500 collected in 1958 will be met or surpassed in the drive which begins on Friday.
